

ESB Newsletter October 15, 2020

Reminder: Call for nominations for 2021 ESB Scientific Awards

Dear members of the European Society for Biomaterials,

We would like to remind you that the call for nominations for the 2021 ESB Scientific Awards is now open. Please do not miss the opportunity to nominate a colleague for one of our four prestigious awards:

George Winter Award: established to recognize, encourage and stimulate outstanding research contributions to the field of biomaterials. The nominee must have contributed significantly to the knowledge in the field of biomaterials through basic, experimental and/or clinical research.

Jean Leray Award: established to recognize, encourage and stimulate outstanding research contributions to the field of biomaterials by early-career scientists. The nominee, not older than 40 years of age and with no more than eight years of post-doctoral experience at the close of nomination (please visit the website for more details on the eligibility criteria that have been updated), must have contributed significantly to the knowledge in the field of biomaterials through basic, experimental and/or clinical research.

International Award: established as a recognition of scientists who have generally spent their career outside Europe, who have been internationally recognized, have a high scientific profile, and have made major contributions to the field of biomaterials. Strong evidence of collaborations with members of our scientific community in Europe throughout their career is expected.

Klaas de Groot Award: established as a prestigious recognition of scientists who have shown a distinct ability to provide excellent mentorship and guidance to young researchers, helping them to establish their own independent career. We look for colleagues who have nurtured young talent, and who have selflessly invested in this talent, creating a next generation biomaterials scientists in Europe.

For further information about the awards and the process of nomination, please visit our website: <http://www.esbiomaterials.eu/Cms/Content/7>.

The deadline for nominations is November 30, 2020.

Kind regards,

*Pamela Habibovic, President
(on behalf of the ESB Council)*